

情報工作

此包袱布屬於東江縱隊港九獨立大隊女隊員林展。林展生於 1920 年，2003 年逝世。她曾入讀本地名校庇理羅士女子中學，因為熟諳英語，獲編入港九獨立大隊的國際工作小組，參與營救和情報工作。

在日佔時期的香港，日軍大肆搜捕游擊隊隊員，因此情報員會喬裝成平民，避開日軍耳目，並會運用各種方法收藏情報，例如將藏有密件的包袱布縛在腰間，避過日軍崗哨。港九獨立大隊和英軍服務團曾在九龍共同開設一間雜貨店，作為他們在市區的地下聯絡站，交換情報及物資。

Intelligence Work

This wrapping cloth belonged to Lam Chin, a female member of the Hong Kong and Kowloon Independent Brigade of the East River Column. Lam was born in 1920 and passed away in 2003. She studied at Belilios Public School, a renowned local school. Since she was fluent in English, she was assigned to the International Liaison Unit of the Brigade and took part in rescue and intelligence work.

During the Japanese occupation, the guerrilla members were hunted aggressively by Japanese forces. Therefore, the intelligence agents disguised themselves as ordinary people to evade Japanese attention. To pass through enemy posts, they hid secret correspondence in many ways, such as wrapping it in a cloth around their waist. The Brigade and the British Army Aid Group operated a grocery store in Kowloon, which was an underground liaison point in the urban area, where intelligence and supplies were exchanged.
